Brief summary of the Act

Main purpose—provision for RSAs

This Act provides for retirement savings accounts, or RSAs, to be offered by certain financial institutions.

RSAs will provide benefits upon retirement or death and may also provide a limited range of other benefits.

RSAs will have certain restrictions placed upon them to make them similar to other superannuation products.

Concessional taxation and social security treatment of RSAs

RSAs are subject to concessional rules under income tax and social security law.

Supervision of RSA business of providers

The Act also provides for the approval of the entities that can offer RSAs and provides for supervision of the RSA business of those entities.

The general prudential supervision of these entities is not dealt with in this Act.

Part 2—Key concepts and other definitions

Division 1—Key concepts

8 Definition of RSA

- (1) An RSA, or retirement savings account, is an account or a policy:
  - (a) that is described as an RSA; and
  - (b) that is provided by an entity that is an RSA institution at the time the account is opened or the policy is issued; and
  - (c) that is capital guaranteed (see section 14); and
  - (d) that is held by a person who is an eligible person at the time the account is opened or the policy is issued (see section 13); and
  - (e) that, at the time that it is opened or issued, satisfies:
    - (i) the requirements in section 15; and
    - (ii) any prescribed criteria; and
  - (f) that is opened or issued on or after 1 July 1997 or such later day as is prescribed.
- (2) However, an RSA, or retirement savings account, can only be provided by a life insurance company as a policy.

Note: Section 16 provides that policy has the same meaning as in the Life Insurance Act 1995.

9 Meaning of hold and holder

- (1) A person holds an account if the account is opened in the person's name. The person is the holder of the account.
- (2) A person holds a policy if the person is the person who is the owner of the policy. The person is the holder of the policy.

Section 10

10 Meaning of provide and *provider

- (1) A person provides an account if the person accepts, or has accepted, contributions to the account. The person is the provider of the account.
- (2) A person provides a policy if the policy is issued by the person. The person is the provider of the policy.

11 Who is an RSA institution?

- (2) Only an ADI or a life insurance company or a prescribed financial institution can be approved as an RSA institution.

12 Who is an RSA provider?

A person is an RSA provider at a particular time if, at that time, the person is the provider of one or more RSAs.

Note: Most RSA providers will also be RSA institutions. However, although every RSA provider must have been an RSA institution at one time, some may have ceased to be an RSA institution.

13 Who is an eligible person?

A person is an eligible person at a particular time if, at that time, the person satisfies any prescribed criteria.

14 What capital guaranteed means

- (1) An RSA that is an account is capital guaranteed if the balance of the account may not be reduced by the crediting of any negative interest.
- (2) An RSA that is a policy is capital guaranteed if the contributions and accumulated earnings may not be reduced by negative investment returns or any reduction in the value of assets in which the policy is invested.

15 RSA benefits

- (1) An RSA must be maintained to provide one or more of the benefits specified in subsections (2) and (3). It may also be maintained to provide one or more of the benefits specified in subsection (4).
- (2) The benefits specified in this subsection are benefits for the holder of the RSA on or after one of, or the earlier of, the following:
  - (a) the holder's retirement from any business, trade, profession, vocation, calling, occupation or employment in which the holder was engaged (whether the holder's retirement occurred before, or occurred after, the holder's account was opened);
  - (b) the holder's attainment of an age not less than the age specified in the regulations.

Note: A prescribed criterion under paragraph 8(e), or an operating standard under section 38, may prevent any benefits being provided before the holder attains a specified age.

- (3) The benefits specified in this subsection are benefits in respect of the holder of the RSA on or after the holder's death, if:
  - (a) the death occurred before:
    - (i) the holder's retirement from any business, trade, profession, vocation, calling, occupation or employment in which the holder was engaged; or
    - (ii) the holder attained the age prescribed for the purposes of paragraph (2)(b); and
  - (b) the benefits are provided to the holder's legal personal representative, to any or all of the holder's dependants, or to both.

Note: These benefits may be provided directly from the RSA or from policies paid for using money from the RSA.

- (4) As long as the RSA is maintained to provide one or more of the benefits set out in subsections (2) and (3), it may also be maintained to provide one or more of the following:

Part 2 Key concepts and other definitions

Division 1 Key concepts

Section 15
